Data as of 12/31/2023.

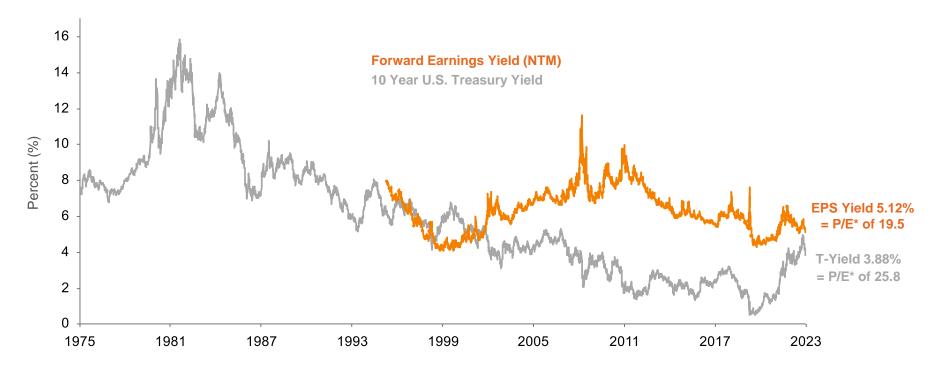

Large-cap companies are typically firms with a market value of $10 billion or more. Investments in large-cap stocks may be considered more conservative than investments in small-cap or mid-cap stocks, potentially posing less risk in exchange for less aggressive growth potential. Mid-cap companies are typically businesses with a market value between $2 billion and $10 billion. Mid-caps offer more growth potential than large caps, and possibly less risk than small caps. Small-cap companies are typically those with a market value of $300 million to $2 billion. Small-cap stocks may be vulnerable to uncertainties characteristic of untried, burgeoning markets but may also offer significant growth potential to long-term investors who can tolerate volatile price swings in the short term.

Investment Grade bonds are bonds that have an investment grade rating of Baa or higher from Moody's Investors Service, a rating of BBB or higher from Standard & Poor's or both and typically have a lower risk of credit default. High Yield bonds are higher paying bonds with a lower credit rating than investment grade corporate bonds, Treasury bonds and municipal bonds. They have a higher yield due to their higher risk of default. Global bonds are issued and traded outside the country where a currency is denominated. Like U.S. bonds, global bonds come with interest-rate risk.

one year.

FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Global Real Estate Index is designed to represent general trends in eligible real estate equities worldwide.

MSCI BRIC Equity Index is a market capitalization weighted index of about 320 companies located in Brazil, Russia, India and China.

MSCI EAFE Index is a free float-adjusted market capitalization weighted index designed to measure the developed markets' equity performance, excluding the U.S. and Canada, for 21 countries.

S&P MidCap 400 Index is a benchmark for mid-sized companies, which covers over 7% of the U.S. equity market and reflects the risk and return characteristics of the broad mid-cap universe.

S&P SmallCap 600 Index covers approximately 3% of the domestic equities market and is designed to represent a portfolio of small companies that are investable and financially viable.

S&P 500 Index is a gauge of the U.S. stock market, which includes 500 leading companies in major industries of the U.S. economy. Investment Risks

Domestic Equity: exposure to financial and market risks that accompany investments in equities. Markets are volatile and can decline significantly in response to adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market or economic developments. Small-cap stocks may be more volatile and less liquid than stocks of larger, more established companies.

Fixed Income: exposure to financial, market, prepayment, credit and interest rate risks. The value of an investment in a fund is not guaranteed and will fluctuate. Higher yielding bonds are subject to greater volatility and credit risks. A fund may invest in securities guaranteed by the U.S. government as to timely payment of interest and principal, but a fund's shares are not insured or guaranteed. Bonds have fixed principal and return if held to maturity, but may fluctuate in the interim. Generally, when interest rates rise, bond prices fall. Bonds with longer maturities tend to be more sensitive to changes in interest rates.

International: in addition to the general risks of investing in equities and fixed income securities, investing in foreign securities poses special risks, including currency fluctuation, economic and political risks not found in investments that are solely domestic. Risks of foreign investing are generally intensified for investments in emerging markets.

REITs: real estate investment trusts may be sensitive to factors such as changes in real estate values and property taxes, interest rates, cash flow of underlying real estate assets, supply and demand, and the management skill and credit-worthiness of the issuer. REITs may also be affected by tax and regulatory requirements.
